Partners for a Healthy Community

Seeing an opportunity to educate the public about natural foods, health, nutrition and the environment, Whole Foods Market has partnered with the Fairfax County Park Foundation to improve the edible landscape garden at Green Spring Gardens. Visitors to the park will learn to select locally viable fruit, vegetable and herb plants and to cultivate them at home using ecologically friendly agricultural practices.

Whole Foods Market's partnership with the Fairfax County Park Foundation highlights the company's core value of caring about our community and our environment. Whole Foods provided refreshments for the opening day of Clemyjontri Park, celebrated by over 1,000 people who share the desire to give children of all abilities the chance for outdoor physical playtime. Fairfax County Park Foundation salutes the responsible citizenship of Whole Foods in working with the parks for a healthy community!
